

I Wrote This Book Before Covid: Ten Lessons for Artists

Beth Pickens, M.Ed.

1. You are an artist. Even on the days you're not sure of that.

2. You are on a continuum. Look both directions.

3. There is no date or age by which you need to 'be somewhere.'

4. Professional artists might make no money from their work yet it still pays.

5. Be of service to your work.

6. Your work will help the culture move through the pandemic.

7. Whatever you think or feel, you're not alone with that thought or feeling.

8. It's easier to get the thing than to enjoy and surrender to the thing.

9. Your creative community is your greatest resource.

10. Artists have an extra soul.
